

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Martha Cynthia Tinsay Gonzalez

Welcome to the 4th quarter!

We look forward to creating more worthwhile memories with our RIS family, starting with our clubs. I am sure your children are excited to choose and join the clubs we have prepared for them. We also have the upcoming Intramurals wherein we encourage sportsmanship and a competitive spirit among our students.

Of course, we also have the E=MSA, our most awaited Math, Science, Music & Art Fair, which has been brewing since the last quarter. We are happy to showcase how we apply our skills, knowledge, and creativity in our upcoming E=MSA.

In addition, as we look back at what we learned from our academics, we realized what mattered most were the lessons we learned as we interacted with one another. This also includes the lessons we learned from failure—from accepting and taking responsibility to making mistakes despite how hard we planned, organized, and tried.

For the management team, teachers, and students, there were many humbling moments that we shared and worked on. We wanted to learn from them and try to make things right. It was undoubtedly a struggle for us to learn these together. It entailed admitting and accepting our faults and limitations. But it was also liberating to experience that we are accepted, forgiven, and loved despite our mistakes and limitations. This was the greatest gift: the realization that despite how hard we plan and try, stuff happens, plans unravel, and, at times, failure is imminent. Despite this human tendency to make mistakes, we are glad to still be accepted and loved within our RIS Family and community.

Hence, many thanks to these experiences that allowed us to grow and accept who we are. This allowed us to understand that the good and the bad are real situations we deal with care, humility, and understanding.

Thank you, my dear parents, for the last three quarters. Thank you for your care, support, and understanding. These are what makes us FAMILY.

The 3rd Quarter seemed like a whirl and flurry of school activities. The Primary School Family Day, Down Syndrome Consciousness Month Celebration, Primary School Recollection, the High School Prom, and the High School Field Trip entailed much planning and organization. This was to guarantee the safety of our students, while making sure there were fun, learning moments that would be forever remembered and cherished in our hearts.

From all our experiences in the 3rd Quarter, we look forward to 4th Quarter. We are excited to work with you and your children in this homestretch!
